PREFACE

To the reader,

This book has been created to help you practice your English on a daily basis. You have all the fundamentals you need to speak basic English everyday.

I've wanted my students to be able to speak English confidently and I believe that this book will help you achieve that.

In these following pages, you will learn all the important and basic elements you need to know to master basic English in no time.

From the bottom of my heart, I wish this book helps you get closer to your English learning goals.

With love,

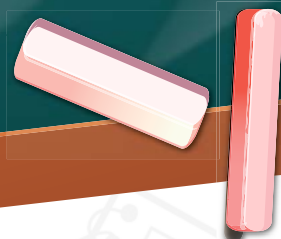

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Chloe." The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style with a large initial 'C' and a period at the end.

Retrieved from the International Phonetic Alphabet (IPA)

DEFINITION

The alphabet is the set of letters used when writing in a language

PURPOSE

As we learn this lesson, we will say that the alphabet is the origin of what we call “Language”. And the specific and important use of it is to help us pronounce words in their perfect pronunciation and all spell them correctly.

CONVERSATION THE MEDICAL CONFERENCE

A: Good morning,

Is the medical conference here?

B: Yes, it is. What's your name please?

A: Thank you Madam,

welcome to the conference.

LESSON 2

FIRST CONTACT

1. GREETINGS

A greeting is a conventional phrase used to start a letter, a conversation or to acknowledge a person's arrival or presence.

When you meet someone for the first time, the talk is introduced by a greeting; it means greeting is the key that puts you in contact with the person.

Here are some common greetings you can find in English:

Hello	Use it, at any time and to whoever
Hi	Use it among friends and at any time
Good morning	Use it in the morning and to whoever
Good afternoon	Use it in the afternoon and to whoever
Good evening	Use it in the evening and to whoever
Good sleeping	Use it when you want to sleep
Good night

2. ASKING HOW A PERSON IS DOING

Usually, after greeting someone, we ask him/her about how he/ she is doing. Here are some common ways to do it:

- How are you?
- How are you doing?
- How is it?
- How is life?
- How is it going?

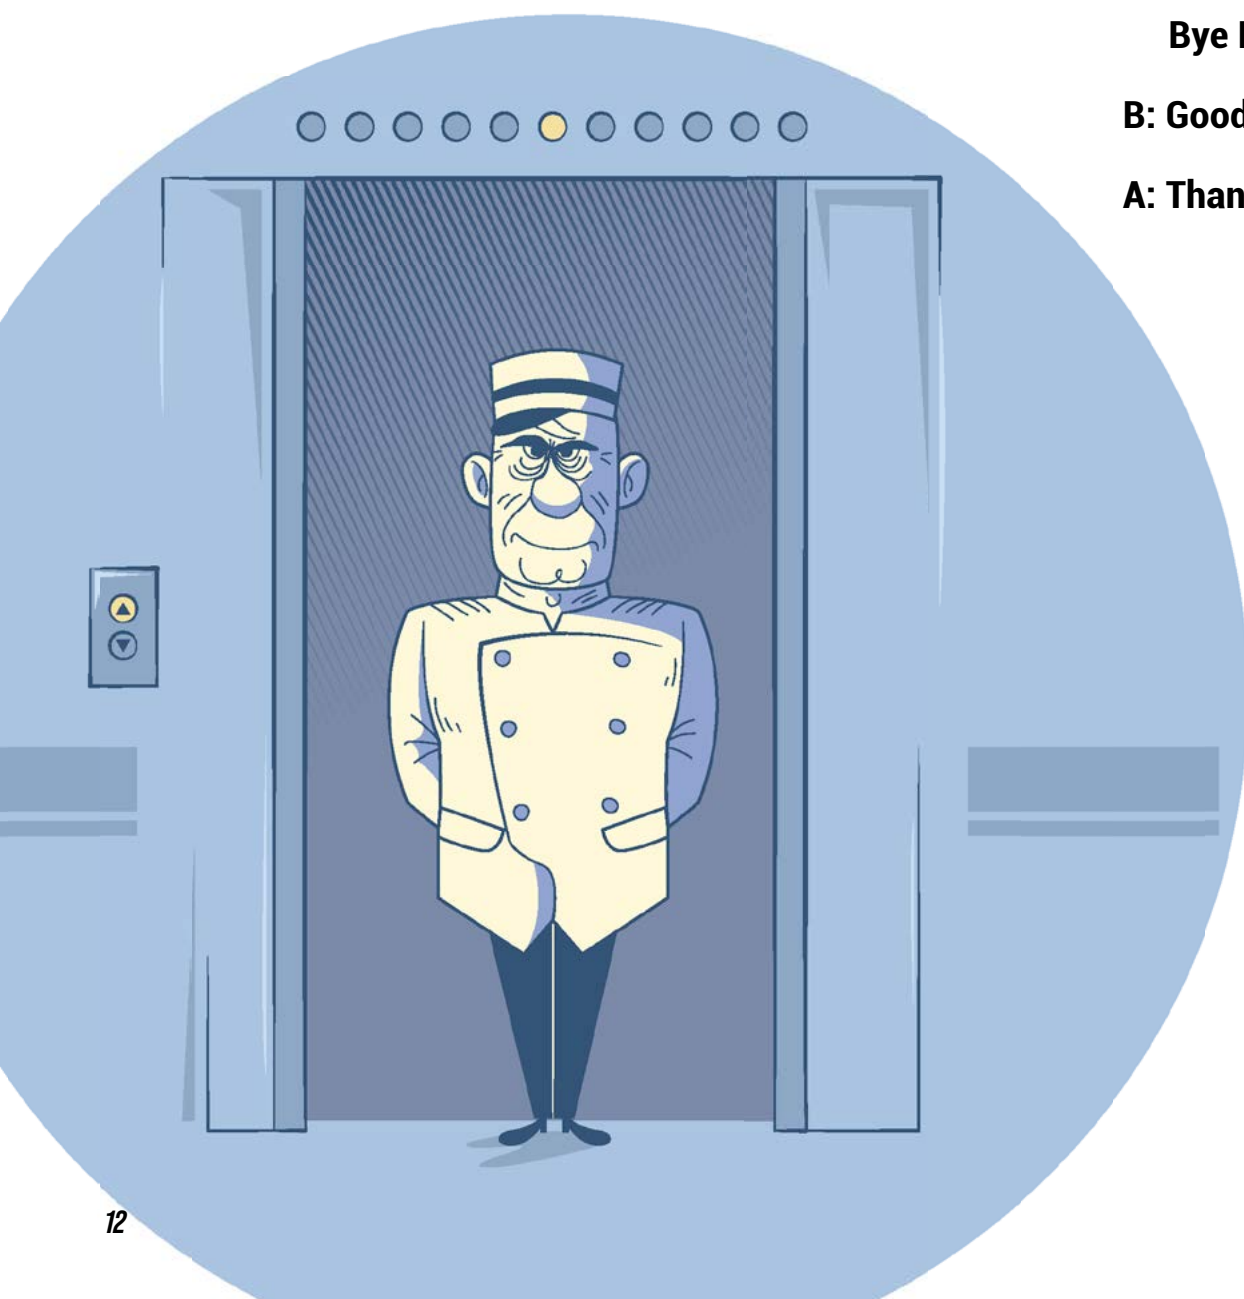

And here you have some answers that we may get from these questions but they may be positive or negative

3. FAREWELLS AND SAYING GOODBYE

It's nice to meet you	_____	It's nice to meet you too
It's good to see you	_____	It's good to see you too
I am happy to meet you	_____	I am happy to meet you too
Pleased to meet you	_____	Pleased to meet you too
How do you do	_____	Thanks/ Thank you
See you next time	_____	See you
See you later	_____	See you
See you soon	_____	See you
Check you soon/later	_____	Check you
Goodbye	_____	Bye

CONVERSATION THE HOTEL DOORMAN

A: Good morning Peter

B: Good morning Sir

A: Nice day Peter?

B: Yes, Sir it's a very nice day

A: Good afternoon Peter

B: Good afternoon Madam

A: Is the hotel full?

B: No Madam, it's not full

A: Thank you

A: Good evening Peter

B: Good evening Sir

A: Is Miss MARGARET at the Hotel?

B: No Sir, she is not here

A: You're sure?

B: Yes, Sir your daughter is out

A: And my wife, Is she at the Hotel?

B: Yes, Sir Mrs. BERTCHASS's here

A: Thank you Peter...

Are you English Peter?

B: No, Sir I am from India

A: Uuh! A very interesting country...

Bye Peter, I'm tired, I'm off to bed

B: Good night Sir, sleep well

A: Thank you Peter.

CONVERSATION THE PARTY

A: Oh! DAVID

B: Hi Frank how are you?

A: Fine thanks and you?

B: Very well thank you

A: Oh! This is SUSAN...

B: Hello! SUSAN, my name is DAVID,
DAVID ROBINSON

A: Hi DAVID, it's nice to meet you

B: Pleased to meet you too

A: Nice party, interesting people

B: Yeah! And one very pretty girl

A: What? A pretty girl? Uuh! I'm thirsty

B: Thirsty? Huuh! Here you are, a glass of wine

A: Thank you DAVID you're very kind

B: And you are wonderful, SUSAN

A: And you are very cheeky

B: Yeah! I'm cheeky because I like you.
It's your energy... Eeeh! Come and dance with me

A: Okay.

LET'S TRY TOGETHER

COMPLETE THE DIALOGUE BUT CHOOSING THE CORRECT ANSWER

Example

Hi, I'm Chloe. And you?

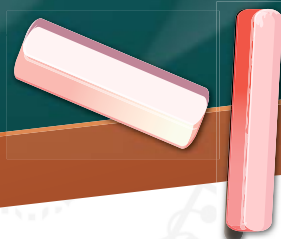

A: I'm Raphael.

B: R-A-P-H-A-E-L

1. A : Hello, I am Brandon. B: _____ • Hi, I'm Monica. • What do we call you?	4. A: Can you repeat your last name please? B: _____ • Of course, it's Myles. • M-Y-L-E-S

LESSON 5

ARTICLES

1. DEFINITION AND KIND

The article is a part of speech that indicates, specifies and limits a noun. In English we have two kinds of articles which are:

- DEFINITE ARTICLE
- INDEFINITE ARTICLES

2. DEFINITE ARTICLE

In English, there is only one definite article “THE”... it is called definite because it is more specific in giving the information

E.g. The town where Hattie lives is very big

I am reading the book Dad bought me

Use the definite article “THE” if you want to speak about rivers, seas, oceans.

E.g. The Ndjili river

The Atlantic Ocean

The Red sea

Use the definite article to speak about nationalities

E.g. The Americans, the Congolese

The Japanese, the Kenyans

3. INDEFINITE ARTICLES

In English, there are two indefinite articles “A and AN”...

They are called indefinite simply because they are less specific in giving the information

E.g. There is a man in the house

There is a car in the parking

A {

It is placed before a noun that starts by a consonant

E.g. A pastor, A teacher

It is also placed before a noun that starts by an aspirated “h”

E.g. A husband, A hospital

It is also placed before words or nouns having a consonant sound at the beginning and for abbreviations which start with a consonant sound

E.g. A plant, A VIP room, A DIY person

An

It is placed before a noun which starts by a vowel

vE.g. An apple, An eagle

It is placed before a noun which starts with a vowel sound

E.g. An undertaker

It is placed before a noun which starts with a mute "h"

E.g. An honest person

It is placed before abbreviations that start with a vowel sound

E.g. An NGO

Notice: In all the cases above, the pronunciation is very important to distinguish. And for concluding, there are cases where the article is not really important to show up and here are some of those cases:

In generalization

E.g. I like music, I like funny stories

Places' names (Towns, Countries, Mountains, etc.)

E.g. LONDON, SPAIN, Mount SUNSET

4. SOME EXCEPTIONS

- I watch television but I also listen to the radio.
- I play tennis but I like to play the piano too sometimes.
- I go to the cinema.

CONVERSATION AT BREAKFAST

A: Some tea?

B: Uuh! Yes, please.

A: With milk?

B: No thank you... Where is the sugar?

A: Here you are... some toast?

B: Yes, please with butter and honey.

A: A bottle of cereal?

B: Yes, please. With cold milk.

A: Fried eggs and bacon?

B: Hum! No, scrambled eggs please.

A: One-minute Sir, here you are: toast, cereal cold milk, and scrambled eggs

B: Thank you very much, you're really efficient.

A: Thank you Sir, you're welcome.

LET'S TRY TOGETHER

Ex 1. Write a or an in the correct places.

Example:: He's a carpenter. He works for a construction company. He builds schools and houses.

1. She works for ____ travel company. She arranges tours. She's ____ travel agent.

2. He has ____ difficult job. He's ____ cashier. He works in ____ supermarket.

3. She's ____ architect. She works for ____ large company. She designs houses. It's ____ interesting job.

4. He's ____ mechanic. He's also ____ part-time student. He takes business classes in the evening.

LESSON 6

PRONOUNS

1. DEFINITION AND KIND

In brief, a pronoun is a word that replaces a noun.

PERSONAL PRONOUNS		POSSESSIVE ADJECTIVES	POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS	REFLEXIVE PRONOUNS
Subject	Object	My Your His Her Its Our Your Their	Mine Yours His Hers Its Ours Yours Theirs	Myself Yourself Himself Herself Itself Ourselves Yourselves Themselves
I	Me
You	You
He	Him
She	Her
It	It
We	Us
You	You
They	Them

PERSONAL PRONOUNS

Subject: Does the action
E.g. I speak English.

Object: Undergoes the action
E.g. Don't lie to me.

POSSESSIVE ADJECTIVES

Possessive adjectives are not pronouns but rather determiners and they give more information about the noun it identifies.

E.g. The man over there is my father.

POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS

Possessive pronouns surely show possession and they can play the role of subject and sometimes object.

E.g. Your phone is here, mine is in the bag.

The book on the table is mine.

REFLEXIVE PRONOUNS

Reflexive pronouns refer back to the subject certain types of verbs can be reflexive, not all.

E.g. I told myself to calm down.

Grace found herself in a dangerous part of the country.

2. INDEFINITE PRONOUNS

DEFINITION

An indefinite pronoun is a pronoun which does not specify the identity of the place, thing or person it refers to:

PERSON	PLACE	THING
Everyone	Everywhere	Everything
Everybody	Somewhere	Something
Anyone/ Anybody	Anywhere	Anything
No one/ Nobody	Nowhere	Nothing

Use Everyone, Everybody, Everywhere, Somewhere, Everything, Something in affirmative sentences or statements.

E.g. She went somewhere.

Let me show you something.

Use Anyone, Anybody, Anywhere, Anything in negative sentences

E.g. I do not know anybody here.

We do not have anything.

Use Nobody, No one, Nowhere, Nothing in affirmative sentences because they are already negative indefinite pronouns.

E.g. Nobody came at school yesterday.

LET'S TRY TOGETHER

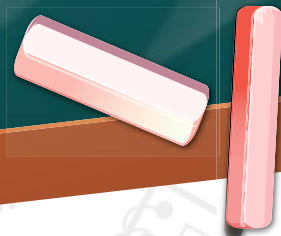

Exercise: Complete the blanks by choosing the correct pronoun.

Example: These are my cousins. Their names are Melissa and Pauline. (They / Their)

1. We are from the same family. _____ mothers are sisters. (My / Our)
2. What is _____ family like? (you / your)
3. _____ live in a very nice small house. (Us / We)
4. This is Ryan's wife. _____ name is Linda. (His/Her)
5. My dog is in my neighbour's garden. _____ live next door. (Their/They)
6. My uncle is on vacation. I saw _____ (he's / his) hotel and _____ (its / it's) really beautiful.
7. That's Oscar. _____ is an accountant. (He / His)
8. Is this yours? No, it's not _____ (my / mine)
9. Where are you and _____ sister from? (yours / your)

LESSON 7

VERBS

1. DEFINITION

A verb is a word that indicates an action, event or state.

2. KINDS OF VERBS

STATIVE AND DYNAMIC VERBS

In English, there are verbs that show actions; they are called “dynamic verbs”. Others show states; they are called “stative verbs”. Here is a small list of these two categories:

Dynamic verbs: Hit, Explore, Sleep, Run, Study

Stative verbs: Be, Like, Love, Wish, Hear, See, Appear, Seem

Note: Some stative verbs can be in continuous tenses

REGULAR AND IRREGULAR VERBS

Regular verbs in English are verbs that take “ed” at the end of their past and past participle forms and Irregular verbs have different past and past participle forms.

E.g.

Look	Walk	Pass
looked	walked	passed

For irregular verbs, it is necessary to learn them by heart.

E.g.

Take	took	taken
Speak	spoke	spoken

AUXILIARY VERBS (HELPING VERBS)

Auxiliary verbs are verbs that help main verbs to be conjugated in other tenses and forms.

In English there are three auxiliary verbs:

BE	HAVE	DO
We use it to make continuous tenses E.g. She is writing a book	This auxiliary verb only has one and very important use which is to make perfect tenses E.g. I have finished my homework	We use it to make the negative form E.g. I do not know We use it to ask questions E.g. Do you like coffee? We use it to show emphasis E.g. I do tell you the truth Sometimes it stands for a main verb E.g. She speaks English more than I do

MODAL AUXILIARY VERBS

Modal verbs modify main verbs and put them into different moods.

Modal verbs express P.A.N. and here is a board that describes in detail what this abbreviation stands for.

STRUCTURE:

S + MODAL + MAIN VERB + O

P	A	N
POSSIBILITY/PROBABILITY can, could, be able to, will be able to would be able to, may, might. E.g. I can go to that party. PERMISSION may, can E.g. May I go to that party? Yes, you may go PROHIBITION must not E.g. You must not go to that party.	ABILITY can, could, be able to E.g. I could go to that party. ADVICE should, ought to, had better E.g. You should go to that party.	NECESSITY/OBLIGATION have to, have got to, must E.g. I have to go to that party.

To make the negative of modal verbs, add “NOT” right after the modal verb
E.g. You should not go to that party
To make the interrogative form, inverse the subject and the modal verb
E.g. Will you be able to go to that party?

THE PRONUNCIATION OF “ED” ENDING OF REGULAR VERBS

The “ED” ending has three different ways of pronunciation at the end.

[d]: played [t]: walked [ɪd]: decided

The “d” pronunciation is used for regular verbs that end with a voiced sound. Voiced sounds are made in the throat and make it vibrate. [b,e,g,i,j,l,m,n,r,th*,u,v,w,z,y]

E.g.

Described/describd/

Agreed/agreed/

Belonged/belongd/

Identified/identifyd/

Changed/changd/

Traveled/traveld/

Welcomed/welcomd/

Designed/designd/

Answered/answerd/

Breathed/breathd/

Continued/continud/

Improved/improvd/

Followed/followd/

Amused/amusd/

Played/playd/

The “t” pronunciation is used for regular verbs that end with an unvoiced sound. Unvoiced sounds are sounds that are made at the front of the mouth. [p,k,s,sh,ch,th,f]

E.g.

Work/workt/

Helped/helpd/

Relaxed/relaxd/

Washed/washt/

Watched/watcht/

Frothed/frotht/

Laughed/laught/

The “id” pronunciation is used for regular verbs that end with [d,t]

E.g.

Recommend/recommendid/

Persuaded/persuadid/

Provided/providid/

Decided/decidid/

Needed/needid/

Started/startid/

Acted/actid/

Created/creatid/

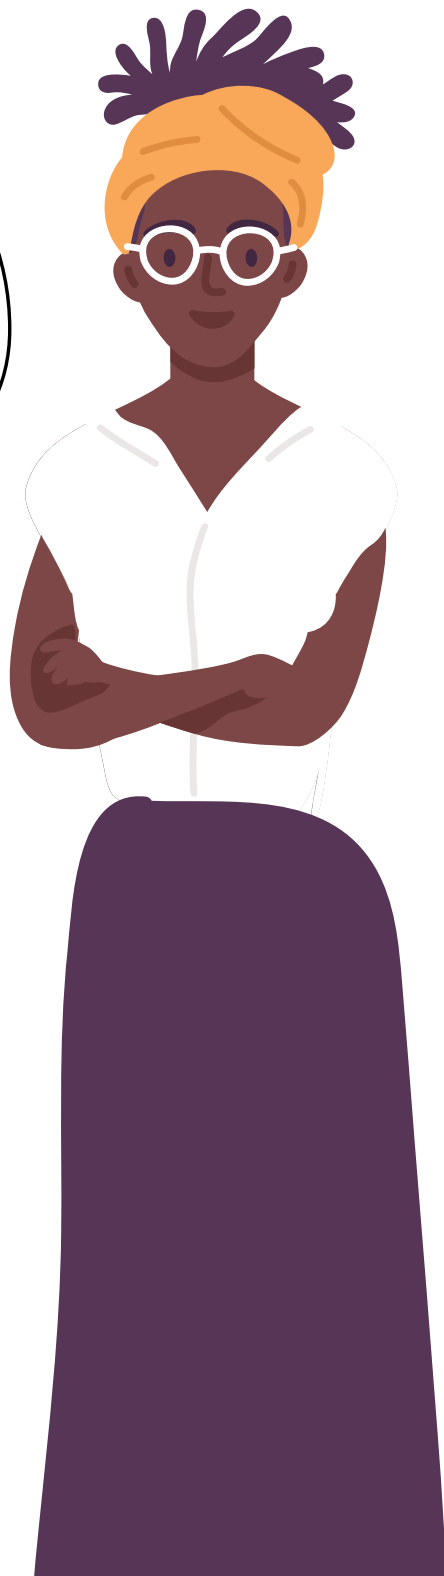

Participated/participatid/

A: Tell me SAM, are you still obsessed with grammar?

B: Yes, I now have a new theory about English verbs

A: Really? What's that?

B: For me, verbs have different levels of importance

A: You mean between Regular, Irregular and Auxiliary verbs?

B: Yes, the regular verbs are ordinary like: To rain, rained, rained. To wait, waited, waited. To phone, phoned, phoned.

A: Ordinary verbs? And what about the irregulars, aren't they ordinary?

B: No, the irregulars are important day to day verbs. Hmmm! To eat, ate, eaten. To drink, drank, drunk. To write, wrote, written. To speak, spoke, spoken

A: Well, I never think about it in that way

B: And the three auxiliary verbs: to be, to do and to have are essential in life

A: I don't agree with your theory

B: Why is that then?

A: What about to love?

B: Love? Loved, loved is a regular verb

A: Yes, but that's not ordinary. It's the most important verb in life, it can move mountains, start wars and even kill people.

B: Oh! ELIZABETH, that was two thousand years ago not now. You're such an old romantic

A: That is the start of the twenty-first century, and love is... would be everywhere, all around us. The age of Aquarius is coming

B: Is that so? Well, if that's the case, then we must change the verb to love from a regular verb to an irregular verb

A: No SAM, it's not possible to change it but it's a beautiful thought

B: Oh! I am full of beautiful thoughts. Probably this is your influence

A: No SAM Remember, the age of Aquarius is coming

B: Oh! Help Barman, two whiskies please.

LESSON 8

CONJUGATION

1. DEFINITION

Conjugation is a classification of verbs according to forms and tenses.

In forms we enumerate: Affirmative, negative, interrogative and interronegative.

In tenses, we enumerate: Simple present, present continuous, simple past, past continuous, simple future, future continuous, present perfect, present perfect continuous, past perfect, past perfect continuous, future perfect, future perfect continuous.

To conjugate, we need three main elements which are: Verb, Tense and Form.

2. SOME CONJUGATION RULES

PRESENT

In general, the third person of every verb takes "s" at the end

E.g. She reads the Bible

Joyce loves people

Verbs ending in: sh, ss, ch, o, x take "es"

E.g. He fishes at the river.

She possesses a car.

She catches the vision.

She goes to the University.

He waxes his shoes.

Now verbs which end with "y" have two forms they take at the end in the third person of the present; some take "s" and some take "ies" at the end.

E.g. She plays with her friend

He fries fish

PAST

To conjugate a verb in the past, use the past form of the verb.

E.g. Regular verb:

I crossed the road before I get here

Irregular verb:

I went to the University today

FUTURE

To conjugate a verb in the future "will" is the main element that we use to express the future. "shall" is only used for the first person in singular and the first person in plural.

E.g. They will sing together

He will be a great man

3. SOME USES OF TO BE

They both mean the same thing but in different cases:

SINGULAR

THIS IS

It is used when the thing or person we talk about is next to us (speakers).

E.g. This is my wife.

THAT IS

It is used when the thing or person we talk about is far from us (speakers).

E.g. That is my car.

PLURAL

THESE ARE

It is used when things or people we talk about are next to us (speakers).

E.g. These are my siblings.

THOSE ARE

It is used when things or people we talk about are far from us (speakers).

E.g. Those are my classmates.

➤ To make the negative form, add "NOT" right after the verb to be

E.g. That is not my bag

These are not your clothes

➤ To make the interrogative form, inverse the subject with the verb to be

E.g. Is that your brother?

Are these your copybooks?

Note: This/That/These/Those can also be used alone without the presence of the verb TO BE. Their meaning does not totally change and they always use the same principle.

THERE USED WITH TO BE

This grammatical structure only means "Il y a" in French; which shows the existence or presence of something or somebody.

PRESENT

THERE IS

It is used for the singular

E.g. There is a pen on the desk.

THERE ARE

It is used for the plural.

E.g. These are my siblings.

PAST

THERE WAS

It is used for the singular.

E.g. There was a party here.

THERE WERE

It is used for the plural

E.g. There were books on the desk.

FUTURE

THERE WILL BE

It is used for both the singular and the plural

E.g. There will be a guest today

There will be consequences

To make the negative form, add “NOT” right after the verb TO BE

E.g. There is not any problem/ There is no problem/ There will not be class tomorrow

To make the interrogative form, inverse the subject with the verb TO BE

E.g. Will there be class tomorrow?/ Are there people inside?/ Is there any problem?

4. TENSES

DEFINITION

A tense is the property of indicating the point in time at which an action happens or takes place.

SIMPLE PRESENT

S + V + O

Uses: habits and routines

E.g. I drink every morning

Facts

E.g. She works as a saleswoman

The sun rises at the east

Water boils at 100°C

Future after some conjunctions

E.g. I will give it to you when you come on next Monday

PRESENT CONTINUOUS

S + BE + V(ING) + O

Uses: actions happening now (at the time of speaking)

E.g. Joyce is going to the university right now

I'm drinking water

Temporary activities

E.g. I am not working these days my cousin is staying with us for one week

Changes taking place now

E.g. Scientists say that the earth is getting warmer
English lessons on you tube are becoming very popular these days

SIMPLE PAST

S + V(PAST) + O

Uses: Completed actions in the past

E.g. We went to the market last week

My grandfather built this house in 1968

PAST CONTINUOUS

S + BE(PAST) + V (ING) + O

Uses: unfinished on going action in the past corrupted by a finished action

E.g. I was having dinner with my family when the doorbell rang

PRESENT PERFECT

S + HAVE + V(PP) + O

Uses: experiences

E.g. I have taught English to many students

Recent actions or events

E.g. I have finished my homework
She has lost her glasses

Note: for experiences the period of time still continues ...but for recent actions or events time is not precise because it is not necessary, and "Just" is often used for recent actions.

E.g. I have just come from school

PRESENT PERFECT CONTINUOUS

S + HAVE/HAS + BEEN + V(ING) + O

Use: Actions that started in the past and are still continuing.

E.g. I have been waiting to see the doctor for 2 hours since 7AM

He has been playing piano since he was a child for 17years

Note: "For" shows the amount of time spent already and "Since" shows the starting point of the action

PAST PERFECT

S + HAVE(PAST) + V(PP) + O

Use: shows the first past action (when there are two or more actions)

E.g. When I arrived at church, the service had already started

PAST PERFECT CONTINUOUS

S + HAVE(PAST) + V(PP) + O

Use: similar to the past perfect it shows the first action but here this one is continuous

E.g. I felt really tired because I had been driving all day

The ground was wet because it had been raining

SIMPLE FUTURE

Here are 3 main forms to express the simple future:

a. Going to

b. Present continuous

c. Will

A. GOING TO

S + BE + GOING TO + V(INFINITIVE)

Use: Making prediction based on something, plans and intentions

E.g. We are going to buy a building

Look at the sky. It is going to rain soon

B. PRESENT CONTINUOUS

S + BE + V(ING) + O

Use: Fixed arrangement

E.g. We are flying to the U.S the day after tomorrow.

Note: "Going to" VS "Present continuous"

E.g. I am going to see the dentist next week (plan)

I am seeing the dentist tomorrow morning (arrangement)

C. WILL

S + WILL + V(SIMPLE FORM)

Use: Instant decisions and promises

E.g. "May I have your order?" Yes, I will have the burger and fries combo please.

Thank you for your email we will respond within two business days.

FUTURE CONTINUOUS

S + WILL BE + V(ING) + O

Use: Ongoing actions in the future

E.g. At 8AM tomorrow, I will be driving to church.

Fixed arrangements

E.g. I will be staying at my house in USA.

FUTURE PERFECT, FUTURE PERFECT CONTINUOUS

S + WILL HAVE + V(PP) + O

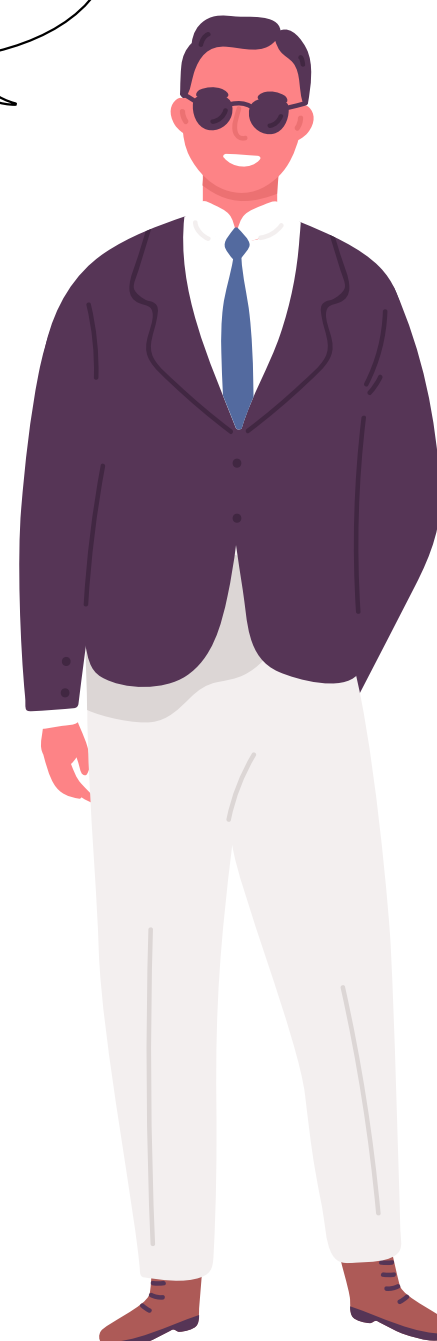

S + WILL HAVE + BEEN + V(ING) + O

Uses: Completion of the action by that time

E.g. By August, Caleb will have saved $500.

Ongoing action in the future and mention the duration at a particular time.

E.g. By August, Caleb will have been saving money for three months.

CONVERSATION A NEW FRIEND

A: Hello, am i late?
B: No, you're on time. He's not here yet.
A: Is he French?
B: No, he's not French, he's Italian.
A: Oh! Italian. What is his name?
B: His name is PHAOLO.
A: Hmm! PHAOLO is a nice name, is he your boyfriend?
B: No, he's not, he's just a friend.
A: Are you in love?
B: No, I'm not.
A: Oh! KEREN I'm sure you are.
B: No, I'm not.
A: Yes, you are, I can see it in your eyes.
B: No, I'm not.
A: Yes, you are.
B: Chh..! He's at the door.
B: Hey!
A: Hey! How are you doing?
B: Good.
A: Good to see you.

A: Edward and Margaret, aren't happy together?
B: Yes, they're quite happy.
A: No, Mike. Maybe he's happy but she isn't.
B: But they're always together.
A: Yes, they're always together but they aren't happy.
B: If they aren't happy, why are they always together?
A: Because when they aren't together they're even more unhappy.

CONVERSATION A CHAT IN THE SUBWAY

CONVERSATION FIVE HOURS PER WEEK

A: Hello? Hello? Hello? Hello? Hello, I am John your teacher.
B: My teacher?
A: Yes, I am the teacher of "My English teacher".
B: Oh! Pleased to meet you JOHN.
A: Nice to meet you too.
B: What is "My English teacher"?
A: "My English teacher" is composed of one hundred forty-four private lessons, in each one, you read and listen to the grammar, you write the written exercises, you speak and record English in the oral exercises, you enjoy the dialogs and you learn new vocabulary so you learn to speak English very quickly.

B: I like it John, I have a goal to speak English in one year, is this possible?

A: No problem, you speak a little already. You're a good student, I like to have students like you.

B: No, I am an ordinary student, I am good if my teacher is good.

A: Okay! I need five hours per week of your time and remember one week is one hundred sixty-eight hours and I need only five. Is that too much?

B: Oh! Very clever JOHN. No, it's not too much, thank you!

A: Well, Are you ready?

B: Ready and waiting.

A: Come on then! First lesson: The verb TO BE. I am, you are, he is, we are, you are, they are.

NUMBERS

1. CARDINAL NUMBERS

0: zero	11: eleven	30: thirty	1 00: one hundred/ A hundred
1: one	12: twelve	31: thirty-one	1 000: one thousand/ A thousand
2: two	13: thirteen	40: forty	1 000 000: one million
3: three	14: fourteen	41: forty-one	1 000 000 000: one billion
4: four	15: fifteen	50: fifty
5: five	16: sixteen	51: fifty-one
6: six	17: seventeen	60: sixty
7: seven	18: eighteen	70: seventy
8: eight	19: nineteen	80: eighty

10: ten	21: twenty-one	91: ninety-one

2. ORDINAL NUMBERS

There are three special ordinal numbers:

1st: First 2nd: Second 3rd: Third

All the remaining numbers take "th" at the end; apart from those ending with "y" which take "ieth" at the end.

E.g. Fortieth, Thirtieth, Seventieth, etc.

A: How about the cinema tonight?

B: Maybe, but I'm not sure. Call me at the office. My number is 4568136.

A: Good! Another number for my list

B: What list?

A: The list of telephone numbers in my head.

B: How many telephone numbers are on your list?

A: A hundred maybe.

B: Oh! That's impossible Edward.

A: I never forget telephone numbers. I'm a numbers' fanatic.

B: How do you remember?

A: I have a trick. For instance, the numbers 456 are easy to remember because they correspond to the East side of town and I know you live there.

B: And the others?

A: Well, $8+1$ is 9 and $3+6$ is 9 and 81 is 9×9 , so I only have to remember one number 9.

B: Okay! You call me. But please give me your telephone number in case you forget my number.

A: Okay! My number is 454-5454.

B: That is an easy number.

A: Yes, it is for friends like you.

B: You mind and I'm coming to the movies alone.

CONVERSATION MR. MEMORY

LESSON 10

THE WH QUESTION RELATIVE
PRONOUNS

WH-questions are questions that refer to different situations; they are called WH-questions because of the presence of these two letters: W and H

WHAT/WHICH

This question refers to knowing things, objects and animals

E.g. What is it?
What do you do in life?
Which shirt do you want to buy?

WHO/WHOM

This question refers to knowing people

E.g. Who are you talking about?
To whom do you always speak?

WHEN

This question refers to knowing time or period

E.g. When did you arrive?
When will he go?

WHERE

This question refers to knowing the place

E.g. Where are you?
Where did you put your bag?

WHY

This question refers to knowing the reason

E.g. Why is it so difficult?
Why have you done it?

HOW

This question refers to knowing the manner

E.g. How did you do your homework?
How will you come back here?

“HOW” can refer to other situations, in case you add some elements after:

How long, how far, how often, how much, how many?

E.g. How long will you take?
How far is the market?
How many children do you have?

Note: When these WH-questions do not play the role of questions and that they are placed in the middle of a sentence, then at that time they are “Relative pronouns”

E.g. I did what you told me to do
You will understand why I tell you this
She knows who that man is
He went where I sent him
I remember the man to whom I talked last time
You can come back when you will be ready

A: At what time does the train for Britain leave?

B: There are two trains to Britain Madam.

At 11:30 A.M and 5:15 P.M, which one do you want to take?

A: The first one, the 11:30 please

B: There you are! Here's your ticket Madam

A: Which platform does it leave from?

B: Platform 3.

A: Thank you! So, what is the weather like in Britain?

B: Oh! I'm sorry Madam, I know a lot about trains but not much about the weather, that is not my responsibility

A: Well, never mind. I'll get to Britain anyway, even if it rains. So, it was an unnecessary question, but I like asking unnecessary questions

B: But I am not here to answer unnecessary questions, I do not have the time for other conversation

A: Well, even you must find it relaxing sometimes to chat about this and that

B: Look Madam, I don't need to relax, what I need is to help the other customers in the line behind you

A: Oh! Sorry, I am leaving, you are very kind and I will send a postcard from Britain to let you know what the weather is like?

B: Thank you Madam... Next please!

CONVERSATION AN UNNECESSARY QUESTION

CONVERSATION A SPECTACULAR COUPLE

A: Wow! What a beautiful couple. Who are they?

B: They're my neighbors

A: She's incredible, who is she?

B: She's the Top model WANDA MALEMBE

A: Where is she from?

B: She's from ZIMBABWE

A: And who is he?

B: He's the famous Tennis champion SPHAN McKinnie

A: Where does he come from?

B: Sweden

A: I'm going to take a picture

B: Hmmm... No, no they hate the paparazzi

A: WITNEY, I am an Artist not a paparazzi

B: No KEE, they're my neighbors you're embarrassing me

A: Okay, okay! Then I'll take a photo of you. Look sexy!

B: After seeing that model, I don't think I can

A: Don't be silly, let's take one of us together... Get ready...

That's right... Now, I press this and come and join you... Okay!

Here I come

LESSON 11

ADJECTIVES

1. DEFINITION

An adjective is a word which gives more information about a noun; it describes or modifies a noun.

2. ADJECTIVE PLACEMENTS

Adjectives have different positions in a sentence; here are some:

- The adjective can be placed before the noun it modifies

E.g. A green car
An interesting story

- The adjective can be placed after a verb

E.g. Her car is green
The story seemed to be interesting

- Two or more adjectives can be used together in a sentence

E.g. She is a beautiful faithful young lady

2. ADJECTIVE FORMS

Here are some adjective forms in English:

Able/ible: say*able*, cred*ible*

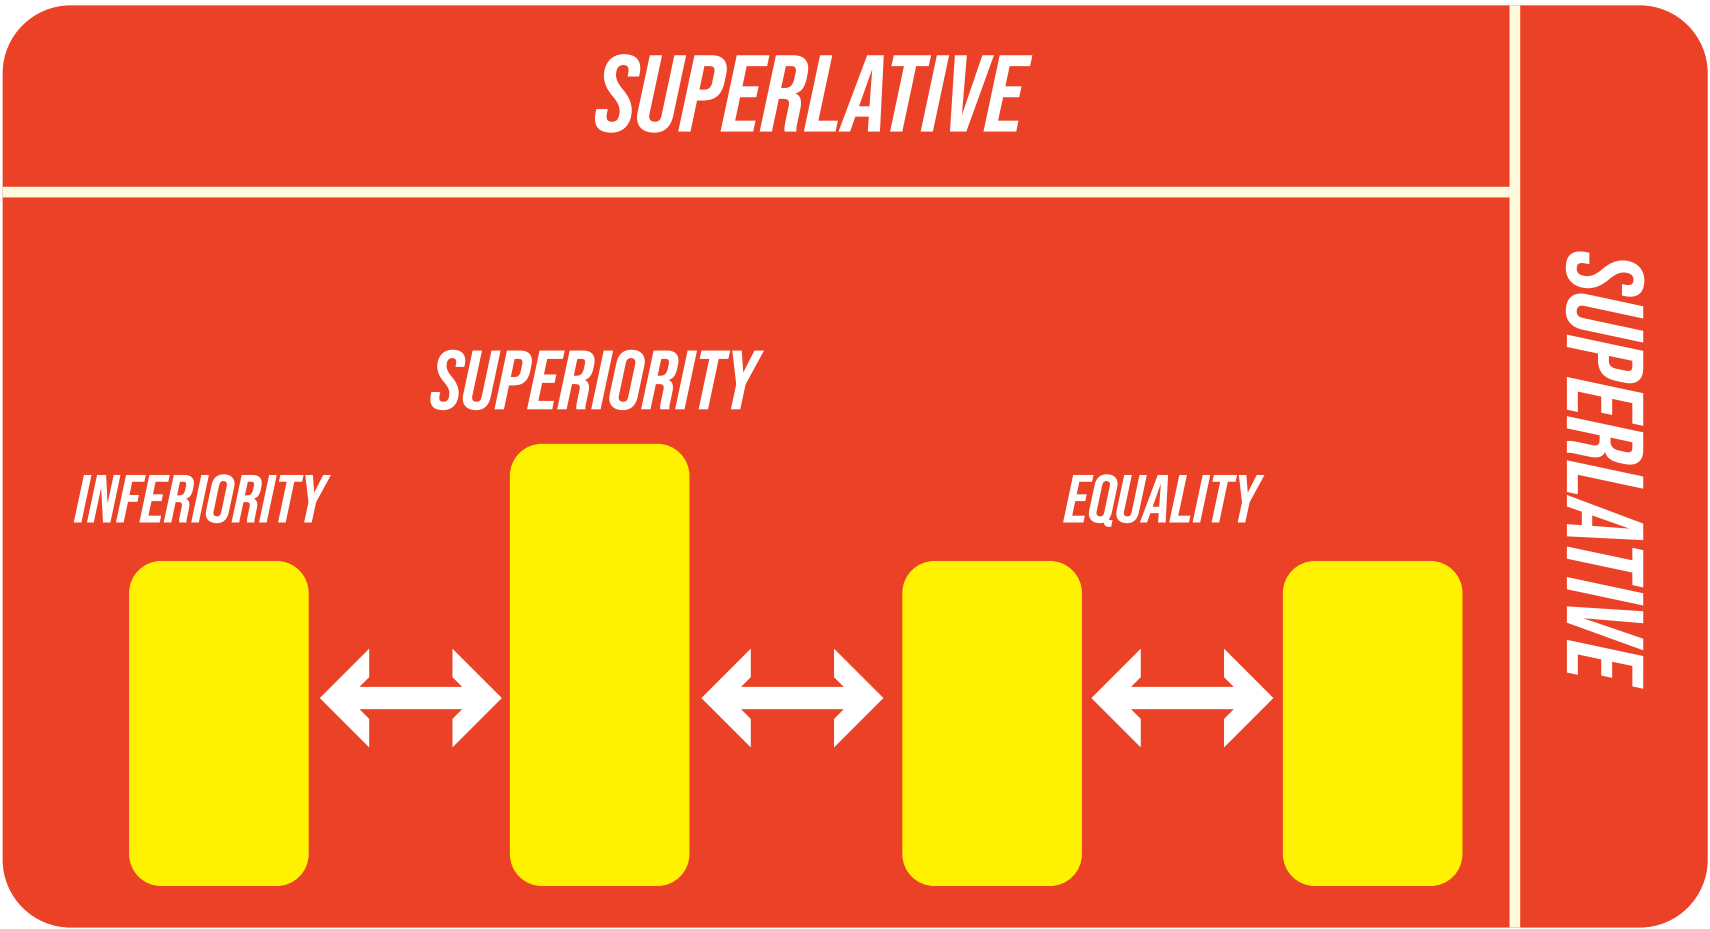

Ish/like: child*ish*, child*like*

Ful/less: faith*ful*, fear*less*

Ous: marvel*ous*, tremend*ous*

Y: dirt*y*, prett*y*

COMPARISON OF ADJECTIVES

SHORT ADJECTIVES

1 -Syllable adjectives	Old, fast
2 -Syllable adjectives ending in “y”	Happy, easy
Rule : add “er”	Old - Older
If the adjective ends in “e” just add – “r”	Late - Later
If the adjective ends in “consonant”, double the last consonant	Fat - Fatter
If the adjective ends in –y change the “y” to – i	Easy - Easier

LONG ADJECTIVES	EXAMPLES
2 – syllable adjective not ending in “y” 3 or more syllable adjectives	Modern, pleasant Beautiful, important
Rule: use “more”	Modern - more modern Beautiful - more beautiful

Some two - syllable adjectives can be used with both rules “er” and “more”

- Quiet - Quieter /more quiet
- Clever - Cleverer/ more clever
- Narrow - Narrower/ more narrow
- Simple - Simpler/ more simple

EXCEPTION: The following adjectives have irregular forms

- Good - better
- Bad - worse
- Far - farther/ further

Note: In the sentence the comparative adjective is often followed by “than”
E.g. My brother is taller than his teacher

INFERIORITY AND EQUALITY

INFERIORITY	EQUALITY
Rule: Less + adjective + than E.g. Your matter is less important than mine My sister is less beautiful than my wife	Rule: As + adjective + as E.g. She is as intelligent as her brother I am as tall as my younger sister

SUPERLATIVE

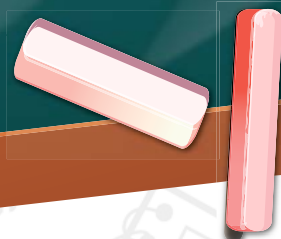

SHORT ADJECTIVES	EXAMPLES
1 - Syllable adjectives	Old,fast
2 - Syllable adjective ending in "y"	Happy, easy
Rule: add "est"	Happy - the happiest
if the adjectives ends in "e", just add "st"	Late - the Latest
If the adjectives ends in consonant double the last consonant	Big - the Biggest
If the adjectives ends in "y", change the "y" to "i"	Happy - the Happiest

LONG ADJECTIVES	EXAMPLES
2 – syllable adjectives not ending in "y"	Modern, pleasant
3 or more syllable adjectives	Expensive, intellectual
Rule: use "most"	Modern - the most modern Expensive - the most Expensive

LESSON 12

ADVERBS

1. DEFINITION

An adverb is a word that modifies a verb, adjective and other adverbs. In English, adverbs typically come from adjectives.

2. FORMING ADVERBS

To make adverbs in English, add “ly” to the adjective you want to modify into an adverb

E.g. Safe Safely

Slow Slowly

3. KINDS OF ADVERBS

ADVERBS OF MANNER

Adverbs of manner express the way something happens

E.g. We walk quickly

She listens to me carefully

ADVERBS OF PLACE

Adverbs of place show where something happens

E.g. The children are playing inside the house

ADVERBS OF TIME

Adverbs of time indicate the period of time in which something happens

E.g. I went to that party yesterday

You can come tomorrow

ADVERBS OF FREQUENCY

Adverbs of frequency indicate how often something happens

E.g. She sometimes goes out by car

I always tell the truth

ADVERBS OF DEGREE

Adverbs of degree show the level of something

E.g. She is very beautiful

My problem is extremely important

4. ADVERBS OF DEFINITE AND INDEFINITE FREQUENCY

A frequency is the number of times that something happens. Now, adverbs of definite frequency indicate the definite time at which something happens and adverbs of indefinite frequency don't indicate the definite time at which something happens.

DEFINITE FREQUENCY: Hourly, daily, weekly, monthly, yearly, every second, once, twice, etc.

E.g. The manager checks my cash every day

INDEFINITE FREQUENCY: Always, constantly, usually, normally, frequently, regularly, often, sometimes, occasionally, rarely, infrequently, never.

E.g. I frequently sing when I am alone

He always comes late at class

A: Come here Shina... I have to talk to you

B: Yes, Grandpa, is anything wrong?

A: Yes, firstly, you're always late for dinner

B: No, it's the bus that is always late

A: Secondly, you usually forget my mail from the mail box

B: There usually is no mail

A: And thirdly, you sometimes bring friends here, I do not like

B: Oh grandpa, you never like my friends

A: But your friends are often impolite

B: Tell me Grandpa, do you like me?

A: Yes

B: Are you sure?

A: Of course! I am. Sorry honey, sometimes this old man is a little bit grumpy. I love you more than anything and I love to have you here

B: Thank you Grandpa, I love you too. I promise I will be good

CONVERSATION THE GRUMPY GRANDPA

A: David when is your exam?

B: Tomorrow

A: Why aren't you in your room with your Books?

B: Why are you here? To give advice as usual?

A: Well, when do you plan to study?

B: Margaret, why don't you go away?

A: Why are you so unpleasant when you have exams?

B: Because I don't like exams

A: But if you prepare well for exams, they are easy

B: Well, that's an intelligent thought

A: Well, it's a pity you don't study more seriously

B: I just don't like studying, what can I do?

A: Please David it's for your own good

B: Okay! I'm off upstairs, you win. You're just like Mum, you even look like her in that skirt. Now, I've got two mothers, it's too much

CONVERSATION DAVID'S TWO MOTHERS

A: Well, you're lucky because two is better than one

B: Okay! But one's quite enough thanks!

A: Alright! I leave you alone, I won't bother you anymore

B: Well, thank you Margaret, I'll believe it when I see it

A: But you're going to study right?

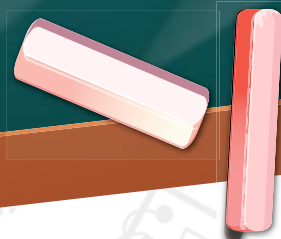

B: Oh! Help... there's no way out, I've got two mothers

LET'S GO

LESSON 13

NOUNS

1. DEFINITION

A noun is a word that is used to refer to a person, animal, place or thing

2. GENDER

Gender is a division of nouns or other parts of speech into masculine, feminine and sometimes other categories like neutral.

MASCULINE	FEMININE	NEUTRAL GENDER
Man	Woman	Person
Father	Mother	Parent
Boy	Girl	Child
Uncle	Aunt	Person
Husband	Wife	Spouse
Actor	Actress	Person
Prince	Princess	Person
Waiter	Waitress	Server
Rooster	Hen	Chicken
Stallion	Mare	Horse

Some words can be used for either masculine or feminine gender;

E.g. Cousin, teacher, doctor, student, friend, colleague, etc.

Isaac is my teacher/ he is my teacher

Sandra is my student/ she is my student

But to make these neuter words gendered, you have to add the word “male” or “female” right before the noun.

E.g. I met a female accountant this morning

3. PLURAL OF NOUNS

REGULAR NOUNS

Like in French, the general rule to make the plural of nouns is to add “s”

E.g. Car cars

Book books

Finger fingers

When a noun ends with s, x, z, ch, sh, o. to make the plural, add “es”

E.g. Bus buses

Wish wishes

Watch watches

Box boxes

Tomato tomatoes

When a word ends with “y”, to make the plural, you need to drop the “y” and add “ies”

E.g. Baby - babies

Spy - spies

City - cities

IRREGULAR NOUNS

When a noun ends in “f”, to make the plural, “f” becomes “ves”

E.g. Leaf - leaves

Wife - wives

Live - lives

Some words do not follow the general rules given above and have their own forms of plural; here is a small list:

SINGULAR	PLURAL
Woman	Women
Man	Men
Foot	Feet
Tooth	Teeth
Child	Children

4. COMPOUND NOUNS

A compound noun is a word composed of two or more words. In English it may or not have a space or hyphen.

COMPOUND ELEMENT	EXAMPLE
Noun + noun	Bedroom
Noun + verb	Haircut
Noun + adverb	Washing machine
Verb + noun	Swimming pool
Verb + adverb	Drawn back
Adverb + noun	On looker
Adjective + verb	Public speaking
Adjective + noun	Greenhouse
Adverb + verb	Overpass

5. COUNTABLE AND UNCOUNTABLE NOUNS

Countable nouns are nouns that we can count by numbering

E.g. 1 bottle, 3 cars

Uncountable nouns are nouns that we cannot count by numbering

E.g. Tea, milk, love, etc.

MANY AND MUCH

MANY/HOW MANY?	MUCH/HOW MUCH
Many is used to talk about countable nouns E.g. How many kids do you have? She has many things to tell me	Much is used to talk about uncountable nouns E.g. My sister has much hair She puts much milk in the coffee
N.B. Use MUCH/HOW MUCH to speak about time and money E.g. He has much money How much does it cost? I don't have much time for that

LET'S TRY TOGETHER

Which noun often goes with these verbs ? Complete the chart. Use each noun only once.

Listen to	Play	Watch
the radio	the guitar	a movie

☐ The piano

☐ the guitar

☐ videos

☐ a movie

☐ jazz

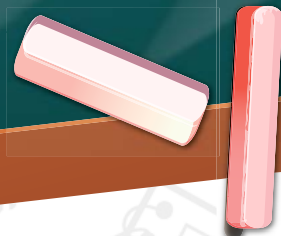

☐ the trumpet

☐ a basketball match

☐ the radio

LESSON 14

ACTIVE AND PASSIVE VOICE

DEFINITION

ACTIVE VOICE:

Is the form in which the subject of the verb is performing the action.

E.g. She writes a book.

PASSIVE VOICE:

Is the form in which the subject of the verb is the recipient of the action.

E.g. A book is written by her.

To make the passive voice:

1. the auxiliary verb « be » is the main element to make passive

2. the subject becomes the object and the object becomes the subject in position.

E.g. Active Voice

She sings a song

Passive Voice

A song is sung by her

3. the tense stays the same, in active like in passive voice

E.g. Active Voice

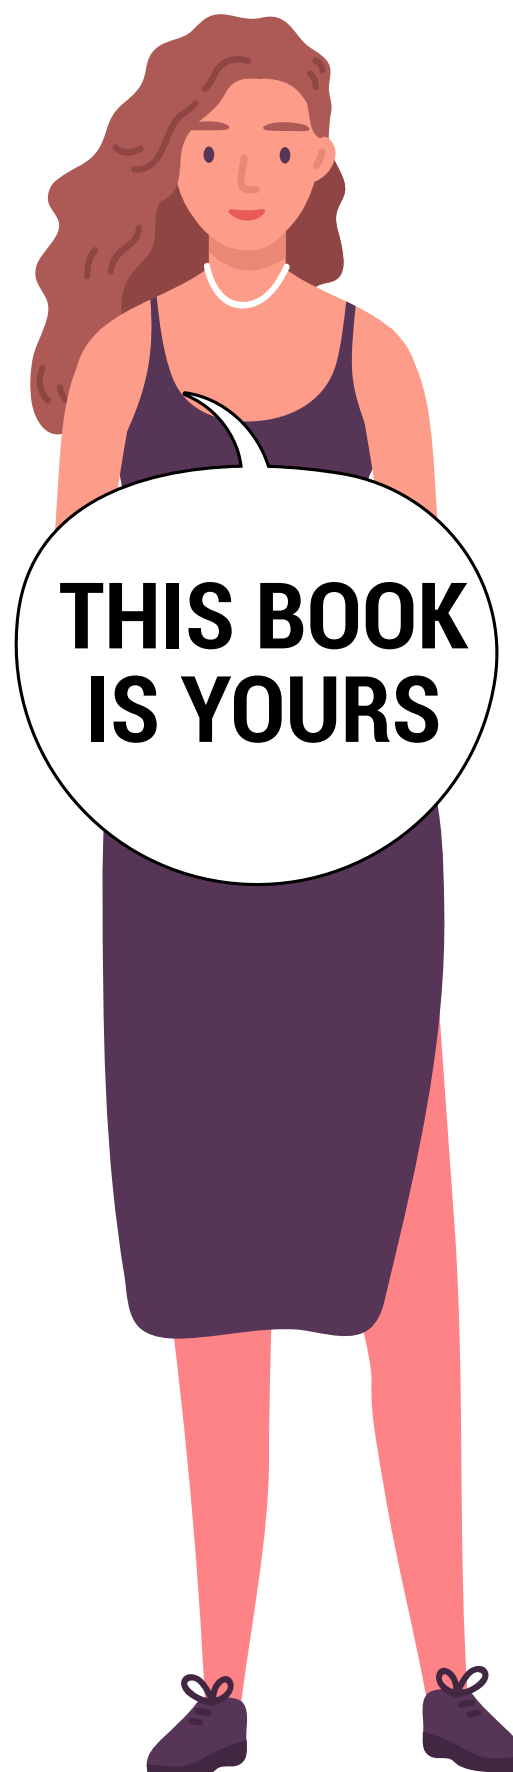

I do my homework

Passive Voice

my homework is done

LESSON 15

GERUNDS

DEFINITION

Gerund is a verb in « ing » form or (verb + ing) which acts like a noun also called « verbal noun »

Here are possible ways to use gerund:

Gerund as subject or object

E.g. Going to school is useful

*My favorite activity is praying

Gerund after prepositions: before, after, of, besides, etc.

E.g. Before beginning class we add a scripture from the bible

Gerund after certain verbs

E.g. I like singing

Here is a small list of these verbs: To like, to feel like, to admit, to finish, to remember, to consider, to deny, to enjoy, to involve, to stop, to keep, to mean, to practice, to quit, to understand

EXPRESSING PRESENT AND PAST HABITS

To express habits in English, the main element is the verb « to use » in this subject we will see the structures that this verb takes to express habits in English.

To use (main verb with simple meaning)

E.g. I use a pen for writing

She uses her talents for being a good cooker

To get used to / get accustomed to (adapt to new situations or habits)

E.g. There is much to learn, but I am getting used to it

I don't get accustomed to your system

To be used to (express normal or regular habits)

Structure:

S + BE USED TO + (ING) + O

E.g. I am used to telling the truth for everything

They are used to going to school on time

Used to: express past habits /situations that don't exist now

E.g. We used to go to church together (but not now)

He used to be a cook (now he is a fireman)

Notice: all these structures can also be in other forms (negative, interrogative, etc.)

LESSON 16

IMPERATIVE

DEFINITION

Imperative is a mood that expresses an intention to influence the listener behavior.

To make imperative in English:

1. The verb must be in infinitive form ...It means without « to »
2. Imperative is given on the second person « you » (singular or plural)
3. Imperative is not usually given with modal verbs except with « be able to »

Imperative is used for different situation in English and here are some:

Give orders (commands)

E.g. Sit down in front of me

Give directions/Instructions

E.g. Go straight and then turn left and in the second building

Make requests (using please)

E.g. Have your copybook please

Give advice /suggestions

E.g. Don't touch fire otherwise you will get burned

Invite somebody (also using please)

E.g. Come at my house tomorrow at 7am

In English « let » is used to express imperative but in a very polite way, but it also has other uses.

LET, LET US AND LET'S

Let → allow

E.g. Let me do that myself

Let me pour the milk

Let's Contraction of « let us » → suggestion

E.g. Let's go shopping

Let's: cannot be placed in the middle of a sentence

E.g. I think ~~let's go shopping~~/ I think we should go shopping

Let's say → suppose, imagine that, for example

E.g. Let's say , your family goes out for dinner

Let's → imperative

E.g. Let's be on time tomorrow.

LESSON 17

PREPOSITIONS

DEFINITION

Preposition is a part of speech which serves to express the relationship between two things.
E.g. Water is in the bottle

Here are the four basic prepositions in English:

	TRANSPORTATION	LOCATION	TIME
AT		E.g. meet me at my house	At 9 :00 Am E.g. Come at 9 :00
ON	Train, bus, plane, boat... E.g. I am on the train	E.g. My pen is on the table	Used to talk about days E.g. She came on Wednesday
IN	Car, taxi E.g. I am in my car	E.g. My clothes are in the suitcase	Used to talk about Months, years, longtime period. E.g. He was born in 1945
BY	Car, plain, train, boat... E.g. I came by car	E.g. I was by your place yesterday	Used to talk about the end time E.g. Be over by Friday with that

LET’S TRY TOGETHER

Example: My brother’s anniversary is on 5th November. (on/in)

Complete this conversation. Write the correct prepositions in the correct places.

Sophie: What time do you want to go for a run _____ the morning? (Around / in / on)
James: We can go _____ 6:00 am. Is that okay? (on / for / at)
Sophie: Sure, that’s fine. We will run _____ an hour, right? (At / for / until)
James: Yes. We should so this at least twice a week.
Maybe _____ Mondays and Wednesdays? (On / for / at/)
Sophie: Can we do Monday and Tuesday this week?
Wednesday is my resting day.
James: Alright. I’ll go _____ the dog. (until / with / on)

LESSON 18

AFFIXES

WORD FORMATION

DEFINITION

Affixes are syllables added to root words and change their meanings. Affixes have meanings on their own and when they are placed in front of the root word they play the role of « prefixes » and when they are placed at the back of the root word, they play the role of « suffixes ».

MOST COMMON PREFIXES IN ENGLISH

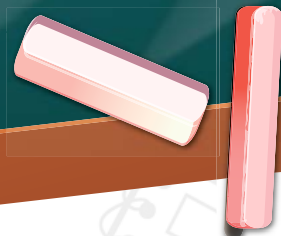

Prefixes	Meanings	Examples
Ab-	Away	Abduct, abnormal
De-	Away/off	Decrease, decode
Anti-	Opposed to	Antidote, antisocial
Dis-	Absence of	Disrespect, disinterest
Ex-	Former/without	Extract, external
In/im-	Not	Impossible, internal
Mis-	Bad/wrong	Misconception, misuse
Re-	Again/back	Restart, return
Sub-	Under/below	Submit, submarine
Semi-	Half/partially	Semicircle, semiformal
Un-	Contrary to	Unhappy, unnecessary

MOST COMMON SUFFIXES IN ENGLISH

Suffixes	Meanings	Examples
-able	Capable to be	Portable, readable
-er	more/somebody who does	Better, seer, teacher
-ful	the action	Useful, grateful
-ical	full of	Identical, practical
-less	relating to	Fearless, harmless

-ous	state or quality	Conscious, marvelous
-sion	full of	Tension, confusion
-th	state or quality	Depth, length
-y	state or quality	Brainy, picky made up of/characterize

LESSON 19

TAG QUESTIONS

DEFINITION

A tag question is a short question at the end of statement.
tag questions only have one use which is asking for agreement or confirmation. Here is how we make TAG question with practical examples:

A positive statement	A negative tag question
You are teacher	Aren't you?
A negative statement	A positive statement
Joe isn't a student	Is he?

Exception:
Positive: I am late Negative: Aren't I?

Examples: Tag questions are made according to the tense and verb used in the declarative sentence

1. POSITIVE STATEMENT

*You have studied all week,
You had arrived before us,
He will pass the exam ,
She can speak two languages ,
They could do it for me,
We must be patient,
You should go now,
You would like a new job,*

*You speak Spanish
Mum cooks chicken
We studied for test
He plays piano at church
They need a dictionary
John lived in the US
Mary wants to buy a new car*

2. NEGATIVE STATEMENT

*haven't you? hadn't you?
won't he?
can't she?
couldn't they mustn't we?
shouldn't you?
wouldn't you?*

*don't you?
doesn't she?
didn't we?
doesn't he?
don't they?
didn't he?
doesn't she?*

Note: Statements using: barely, hardly, neither, no, nobody, none, nothing and seldom are considered as statements so their tag questions must always be positive.

E.g. Nobody went to the meeting, did they? Nothing is ready, is it?
These are statements that take unusual tag questions

Statement	Tag questions
Let's go to school,	Shall we ?
This is my pen, Don't forget,	Isn't it ?
Go out,	Will you ?
	Will you ?

LESSON 20

POSSESSIVE CASE

DEFINITION

It is the case used to express direct possession, ownership, origin.

Structure:

POSSESSOR + 'S + POSSESSED OBJECT

E.g. The car of my father

My father's car

If the possessor ends with « s » only add « ' »

E.g. The room of my brothers

My brothers' room

If the possessor ends with an « s » sound only add « ' »

E.g. The name of Jesus

Jesus' name

For numeral possessive case, when the number is plural, the possessed object stays or keeps the singular number and is separated by a hyphen

E.g. A boy of 10 years old

A 10-year old boy

GO TO THE NEXT STEP

LESSON 21

CONDITIONALS

DEFINITION

A conditional sentence is a statement that depends on a condition which is true or false.

A conditional sentence always has two parts, The « if clause » and the « Main clause»

There are four conditionals in English:

1. ZERO CONDITIONAL

If clause: Simple present	Main clause: Simple present
----------------------------------	------------------------------------

Use: Used for facts. It means things that are usually true

(E.g. Scientific facts)

E.g. If I eat rice and beans, I' am happy If you heat ice, it melts

2. FIRST CONDITIONAL

If clause: Simple present	Main clause: Simple future
----------------------------------	-----------------------------------

Use: Used to talk about real situations. It means things which will probably or possibly happen.

E.g. If I buy this shirt, I will be happy

If I eat that donut, I am going to be happy

3. SECOND CONDITIONAL

If clause: Simple past	Main clause: S+WOULD+V
-------------------------------	-------------------------------

Use: Used to talk about non-real situations. E.g. If she had some time, she would come at mine

If students did not disturb, the teacher would not punish them

Exception: when you use the verb « to be » all the persons take « were » in the « if clause »

E.g. If I were my father, it would be great

This conditional is also used to talk about future possibilities

E.g. If I ate chicken, I would be happy

4. THIRD CONDITIONAL

If clause: Past perfect	Main clause: S+WOULD HAVE+V (P.P)
--------------------------------	--

Use: Used to talk about non-real situations in the past

E.g. If I had not eaten that chicken, I would not have gotten diarrhea

If Joseph had worked hard, he would have earned a promotion

Expressing wishes and regrets

Wishes and regrets can be expressed in the past, in the present and also in the future here are some structures and uses of « WISH »

1. WISH + Past simple

Use: This structure is used to describe a situation that we would like to be different

E.g. - I wish I had a car (I don't have a car and I am sad about that) - Becky wishes she married me

- I wish I were extremely talented

Exception: For the verb to be when we use wish to express wishes or regrets all the persons take « were »

2. WISH+sb/sth+would+V

Use: This structure is sometimes used when we want someone to change their behavior or sometimes when we want something to happen.

E.g. I wish they would help me I wish my car would start I wish you would call me

3. WISH + Past perfect

Use: This structure is used when we want to describe a past situation that we regret

E.g. I wish I had apologized to my mum (I didn't apologize to Mum.

I regret it now) I wish I hadn't sold my house (I sold my house. I regret it now)

4. WISH + would

Use: This structure is used to express impatience or dissatisfaction E.g. I wish you would stop doing that while I am talking

5. WOULD RATHER AND HAD BETTER

Would rather is used to indicate « preference » and as a preference applies to two or more things (choice) we have to use « than »

E.g. I Would rather do it right now than waiting for the teacher.

Positive: S + would rather + V+O Negative: S + would rather + not + V+O

HAD BETTER is used to give advice; it is synonym of «should or ought to »

E.g. I Think, you would better go home

Positive: S+would better+V+O Negative: S+would better+not+V+O

LESSON 22

SUBJUNCTIVE

DEFINITION

The subjunctive is a mood that represents an act or state as possible
(not as a fact)

HOW CAN YOU RECOGNIZE AND USE THE SUBJUNCTIVE MOOD IN ENGLISH?

Most of the time the subjunctive mood is characterized by clauses with « THAT » followed by the infinitive of the verb

E.g. I suggest that he eat PIZZA

I suggest that she not eat PIZZA

Here are some structures in which we can identify the subjunctive mood

1. S + Particular indicative verb + THAT + S + V (infinitive)

Some indicative verbs: Suggest, recommend, ask, insist, demand, command, order, wish, Propose, urge, ...

Nouns: Advise, desire

E.g. The teacher recommended that we do our homework in groups of 5 I propose that my family go overseas

Note: For the negative form, the negation auxiliary « do » isn't used here we only add « not » right before the verb

E.g. I advise that you not do that

2. It is + Particular adj + THAT + S + V (infinitive)

Adjectives: vital, essential, important, crucial, imperative, necessary, best, desirable, urgent, recommended, a good idea, a bad idea, ...

E.g. It is important that everybody be present for the meeting

It's imperative that members fill out a form

3. Subjunctive in fixed expressions

So be it

E.g. If that's how it should be, so be it

As it were (in a way, so to speak, in a manner of speaking) E.g. Wait! Let me take you to bed, as it were

Be that as it may (Whether it is true or not...)

E.g. They claim innocence. Be as it may, we will have to begin an investigation

If need be (if it is necessary)

E.g. Let's go! If need be, we will come back

LESSON 23

CONJUNCTIONS

DEFINITION

The state of being joined together - Something that connects
- (Grammar) A word used to join clauses and phrases together

1. COORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS

These are conjunctions that join two grammatical elements of the same status or construction... it may be two independent clauses or two nouns or two verbs, etc.

E.g. And, but, so, or, nor, for, yet, etc.

I can't tell whether it is day or night

2. SUBORDINATING CONJUNCTIONS

These are conjunctions that establish a relationship between two elements... it may be a dependent and independent clause. Some of those relationships can be cause- and-effect and contrast

E.g. Because, since, as, although, though, while, whereas, etc.

I will not go out because i feel sick

3. CORRELATIVE CONJUNCTION

These are conjunctions that always work together and they are also called "Conjunction pairs"

E.g. Either/or, Neither/nor, Not only/but, Both/and.

Both my brother and my sister like joking.

NOTE
